

Welcome!

Written by Andrew Bingham
Monday, 30 November 2009 03:00

Welcome friends to my new website. The place is a little bare at the moment, but in the months to come I hope to fill this site with new music, photos, videos, and press (hopefully good press). Check back occasionally to see what's new.

Also, make sure to take a listen to my debut album, "A Hoarder Wants to Give." You can stream the whole thing from the Music page to listen to it first, and you can order a digital or physical copy there as well. Or if you prefer, I can also be found on iTunes and other online music sites. If you like what you hear, please sign up on the mailing list for occasional updates and tour information.

And for the love, tell a friend!